

Early Bird Broadcast

Dawn

Before you roll over in the morning, the Early Birds are busy. They are painting and drawing, cooking and eating, but best of all they are greeting their friends and happily playing.

Good morning to [our Early Bird children!]

Barbara Caccamo
Pam Wells
September 2009

Max

Max is so glad that a new “flock” of children are feeding him goodies. He especially loved the apple cores that were left over from when we made Apple Sauce.

“Yum”, said Max!

Story Time

How do you know when a story has been successful? When the children help you with the story and laugh at the story then you know it's going well. When the children say in a quiet voice at the end of the story, “Do it again”, I'd say that's how you know the story is the best.

Food glorious food!

Wednesday is Waffle Day!

We have tried homemade waffles, (they're square), and we have tried frozen waffles, (they're round). I guess we're not food critics because they rated both kinds of waffles the same. It must be the syrup that counts.